SPILSBURY'S DROPS, Prepared at the DISPENSARY, inflituted 1773, in Mount Row, West-minster Bridge, Surry, for relief of the Poor.

Sold by CHARLES ELLIOT, Bookseller in Edinburgh.

MARY STORER, daughter of Joseph and Mary Storer, gardeners, in Church Street, Lambeth, Surry, was afflicted for near five years with a violent crustaceous corrolive humour, which, after the Small Póx, covered her head, and is commonly called a Scaled Head. She was twenty months under the care of the Dispensary Sono, eight months an out-patient at the Westminster Infirmary, but grew worse at each place. By the taking of Spilsbury's Drops she grew visibly better in a fortnight, and, by continuing them, is restored to her health, as if no such strength of the single strength of the same witness our hands, we do testify the same, witness our hands, Stockholm, Sept. 1. It is faid, that conformably to his Majesty's order, great diligence is used in putting to sea four ships of the line and fix frigates. The Swedish seet will then consist of eight ships of the line and twelve frigates. It is pretended, that his Majesty intends to take shipping in Holland, in order to return to his kingdom, for which purpole one of the King's frigates has received orders to be in one of the ports of the United Provinces the 15th of this Copenhagen, Sept. 5. M. de Sakken, the Russian Minister, has received dispatches from his Court, containing a ratification of the convention for the protection of the neutral commerce between his Court and ours, and bills of exchange for 25,000 crowns, of which fum the four members of the Council will each receive 6000 crowns as a present from the Empress, and 1000 crowns are to be divided between the Secretaries in the department of foreign affairs. We are affured that the Ruffian Minister will receive a present of 6000 crowns from our court, and 1000 crowns are to be divided among his Secretaries.

The loss sustained by the Danish navigation, by the detention of a number of ships in the different ports of Spain, amounts to 300,000 crowns, which our Minister at the Court of Madrid has orders to reclaim.

Paris, Sept. 9. Our Minister received an account, a few days ago, of the arrival of the fleet from Marfeilles at Martinico, under convoy of the Experiment: At the same times, they received intelligence, that M. de Guichen did not fail from Fart Royal till the 25th of July. Others pretend, however, to know for certain, that he lest it the 5th of the said month, with 33 ships and 15,000 land forces, and that he went for Jamaica; though, according to others, he went directly for the continent of North America; to forward the force of New York, which was to take also wear the fiege of New York, which was to take place upou the landing of the forces under M. de Ternay.

"Captain Fortescue, of his Majedy's floop Scourge, in the Downs, in his letter to Mr Stephens of the 16th inft. gives an account, that on the 14th, at ten in the morning. o'clock, being within hail, and receiving in answer, he con-cluded her to be an enemy, therefore fired a broadfide into her, when she hoisted French colours, and returned the fire. After an engagement of half an hour, she struck and proved to be the Charlotte privateer, of Dunkirk, of 16 fix-pounders, and 120 men, commanded by Monsieur Du Casso, who was dangerously wounded in the action. The first Lieutenant and ten men were also wounded, and four killed. She is a new ship, having been only three months off the stocks, and eighteen hours from Dunkirk, from whence the had failed to intercept the trade bound to Ostend and Flushing.

A letter from an officer on board the Tartar privateer of London, Captain——, to Mr Eton boat-builder at Rotherhithe, dated Lisbon, Aug. 18. says, "We failed from the Downs the 28th of April with a brisk gale at S. E. by E. till the 7th of May, when we espied two fail to windward, distant sive leagues. We cleared away for action, as we thought it might be an enemy, though they hoffed English colours. As we thought, so it was; for, as soon as we came up with them, we found one was a French armed ship, and the other a St Domingo man, the rest baving ed ship, and the other a St Domingo man, the rest having parted in a storm. After a few shot, the merchantman struck, but the armed ship got away, as we were too much fruck, but the armed hip got away, as we were too much for him. She proves to be a good prize, having 500 hog-fheads of tobacco, 200 bags of ceffee, and other merchandize. We bore away for Lisbon, where we found fome of Commodore Johnston's squadron lying there, with a great number of French and Spanish prizes, which he has taken fince his being on this station. On the 11th, two of his frigates, the Panther and Pandora, brought in three sail of West Indiamen (Fordish) which were taken by the combination of the property o West Indiamen (English) which were taken by the combined fleet, but in their way to Corunna were overtaken by a violent ftorm, which separated a great part of them, and we hope to retake some more yet, but will send you word a-gain very soon if we have any success." Commodore Walsingham, in a letter to his lady, says,

"I never had a pleasanter passage in my life; and, what adds to my satisfaction is, the health of my people, and the soldiers that were under my convoy. I did not lose a seaman all the passage, and buried only seven soldiers. Rod-'s joy at my joining him was great indeed. The enemy will not fight us, &c.

Advices are received from Marfeilles, by way of Holland, of the capture of the Orphee privateer of 32 guns, by the Romney man of war, and fent into Lifbon. She was a new ship, the property of a banking house at Paris, and cost above 20,000 l. fitting out for a fix month's cruize.

On Saturday an account came from Liverpool, with the agreeable news of the fafe arrival of all the Leeward Island fleet bound to that place and Lancaster, off Beaumaris.

Some) private letters by the latest conveyance from the Fast Indies mention, in confirmation of former advices, the flourishing tranquillity of the Company settlement in general, notwithstanding the several reports circulated at home to the contrary, the mere imagery of defign and fallehood, and which one of the putative authors was lately very much offended did not gain the expected credit.

An exact return has been made of the inhabitants and garrifons of Gibfaltar on the 31st of last May. The inhabitants were 3201, of which there were 306 English, 1832 Roman Catholics, and 863 Jews. The houses amount to 446. of which 195 are of Protestants, 144 of Roman Catholics, and 107 of Jews. The garrison consisted of the 12th, 39th, 56th, 58th, 72d, and 73d, English regiments, with three Hanoverian regiments, commanded by General La Motte.

From the Landon Papers, Sept. 19. Wadrid, Asg 21. By an express from Cadiz, our Court is received advice that Don Barcelo has met a fleet of Eng-In transports, confitting of 22 fail, under the protection of b frigate of 32 guns, all laden with provisions and ammuni-tion, and defined for Gibraltar, and that he had taken frigate and nine transports, which he fent into Catiz; daving afterwards flationed fome of his frigates before the month of the bay of Gibraltar, to prevent any of them entering that bay, he failed in purfait of the rell of the transports which had dispersed during his short-engagement with the frigate; but as some was in light, it was hoped that several more would be taken, and are expected at that port.

Madrid, Aug. 29. Don Louis Cordova, Director-General of the fivet, gives account in his letters of the 12th of this month, that he has taken a rich English convoy. He relates, that, in the night between the 8th and 9th ult. he heard a fignal gun fired to windward, which, by its found, feemed to be at a confiderable diffance, so that he could not be certain what it meant; the figual, however, on feeing flrange ships, was repeated; on which the General made fail towards them in a manner to be able to discover what they were when day thould break: Accordingly, at a quarter past four in the morning, by the first dawn of faw one fail, and, prefently after, a great number of thips, all failing together, the same course with our seet; for the Admiral's ship, we Sanctissima Trinidada, having hoisted a lauthern at the fore-topmast head, the English convoy thought it was the light of their own Commodore. Don Louis Cordova, finding they were English, fired feveral guess at some of them who had taken the alarm, and attempted to fly; and, tacking, the whole fleet housed the figual for a general-chaer, and to put men on board the prize. This order was so expeditionly obeyed, that, by fix o'clock, fifteen of our fleet had forrounded thirty-fix shaps, who immediately struck, and was manned by us; and some other of our flips, under cover of a thick for and disfome other of our thips, under cover of a thick for and driz-ling rain, got on to those who were trying to escape, and continued the chace with effect. By all accounts, they are a convoy that failed from Portfmouth under the effort of the ilies of 74 guns, and the Thetis and Southampton frigates, of thirty of thirty-fix guns each. These three thins bound to be beard, and in the rear of the fleet, immediately made fail to get away, and were brifkly elected by our flying fquadron, commanded by Commonore beautiful weral other thips, which unfortunately could not come up with them, by their being already to far to windward, and the excellive advantage they had in going. Under their circumflances, the Commodore refolved to fail after the merchantmen which were flying to the fouth cast, and intercept With thefe, and thuse taken by the rest of the & before night, we added to the above number of thirty-fix, fo as to make up fity-one prizes. A brig, who failed very well, escaped to the eastward, and fix or seven others, which Mouf. Beaufict faw far to windward, when he chaced the men of war. The General is persuaded some of them must be taken, especially one, which was chaced by La Nervinde, and the ships in the rear.

Don Louis Cordona adds, that without reckoning the five East India thips, and the taking the Captains and mer-chants that were is that convoy, a more numerous and more valuable fleet has never fulled from England to that part for hany years. He concludes with faying, that without attri-buting to his delires and diligence for the royal ferrice, he aferibes entirely to the high hand of the Almighty those riches of the enemy failing into our hands, and the perfect fatisfaction at the cutire ruin, of an expedition of fach importance, as well for the reinforcement of the troops in In-dia, and the American illands, as for the great flore of pro-visions, cloathing, fails, rigging, and all other kinds of flores going in those thips to the English fettlements.

A In the evening of the 10th inftant, Don Louis Cordo. va having regulated the order of the coursy, gave charge of it to Don Vicente Doz, who, with a fasticient number of fairs for an efcort, failed with the prizes on the 18th, and meeting with another prize taken by the Sin, anchared fafe-ly in the Buy of Cadiz, where three other had arrived before him; fo that the whole number of prizes were FIFTY-FIVE.

Advice is received of the French having captured the Ramilies of 74 guas, and the Southampton of 36 guas, two of the convoy of the West India sheet taken by Don Louis

Utrecht, Sent 14. The letters from Cadiz of the 24th of August bring an exact account of the flips taken from the English by the combined fleets; according to which 52 vessels were already arrived, having on board 1250 failors, 34 officers, 1255 foldiers, 149 women, and 137 pull-agers; beliefs there, two merchant frigates and one brig were tathe 16th of the fame month, and are frace arrived at

All we can learn further of the fire in the hemp magazines at PeterBurgh is, that the French will, it is fail, lose three millions of lates by it.

Lord Lincola 3833 A letter from St Lucia fays, that Admiral Rodney had ordered fome new works to be added to the fortifications of that iffand, and batteffes to be raifed to command an entrace into the harbour, fo that no thips of the enemy con pass without danger of being funk. The Admiral intends that illand as a rendezvous for his men of war, and for prizes that are taken to be fent in there, as it will be a place of the greatest fafety for them.

A letter from St Lucia mentions the fafe arrival there of the Earl of Harrington, with his regiment, in Commodore Wallingham's squad on, in perfect health.

A private letter from Holland says, "We have received a letter from an officer of diftinction at Breit, who, after giving the greatest encomians to Monf. du Chaffault, fays, he has been treated by Ministry with the greatest cruelty, and is preparing a memorial to the King, fetting forth his reasons for refusing ery longer to hold his command, and praying justice for the injury his tharacter has fultained."

A correspondent afferts, with great confidence, that the Court agents have been more buly in the present election than in any other fince the Revolution, but the minister will not find fo great a majority in the new, as in the late venal Parliament, the people in many places having prefumed to chuse for themselves, without consulting the will of the mi-niller, or any will but their own, The Boyne, in which Captain Rice came home with the dispatches from General Vaughan, Commander in Chief of his Majetty's land forces in the Leeward Islands, left St Kitt's the 2d of August, and we learn that she brings advice, that the hurricane season was then advancing very fast, which would put a stop to all military operations for some months to come. We are further informed, by the fame Channel, that Admiral Rodney had driven the combined fleets of France and Spain out of thate fent, and had difpatched Admiral Rowley, with ten fail of the line, to Jamaica. The campaign at the Leeward Islands, being coneluded, and the troops only now employed on garrifon du-ty, the Earl of Guatham, and feveral officers are come home leave. The last letters from Torbay mention, that the grand fleet under the command of the Admirals Darby, Digby, and Rofs, continued wind boand there by contrary winds.

A correspondent observes, that it is a pity Clinton's troops were not employed early this campaign against Martinico, which must have fallen an easy conquest, before the French land any force in that quarter. Beating our natural enemies would foon have broke the new chain of unnatural alliance with our rebellious subjects, but now every plan feems too late for faecels.

Though no one ever doubted the foirit and bravery of Sir Henry Clinton, yet there are lesters lately received from New expressive of wonder that he did not immediately attack Washington's intrenchments on his return from South Carolina. General Knyphaulen had prepared every thing for putting such a plan in exception; and yet, like the un-fortunate campaigns of 1776 and 1777, it seems intended to end in air, without even smoke to darken and cover its de-

Bay, Plymouth, Sept. 13, 1780.
"On the first of this month we failed from Falmouth on a cruize in the Day. On Friday last (five days after); a. bout four o'clock in the morning, lat. 48. 15. Breft bearing from us about fixteen leagues, we fell in with the combined fleets of France and Spain; as foon as day light appeared they gave us chace, but our fhip being a fast failer, in a short time ran them out of fight: You may easily judge our fituation did not allow us much time to take particular notice of them; but our Captain, who in principle is really a patriot, could not think of losing such an opportunity of doing an effential service to his country, and accordingly stood back for the ficets, to make what observations he could, and to bring the account to Government : As nearly as we can conjecture (for the sternmost ships were at such a distance from us, and they kept up so constant a chace, that we could not get close enough to diffinguish them), they confit of about one hundred fail, 38 of which we could eafily perceive to be of the line, many frigates, and two large cutters, that particularly chaced us; and it is rather aftorishing, that (the Amazon being a remarkable squarerigged ship) we beat them entirely of the wind: in this manner we continued, at one time running into them, and again crouding all our fail from them, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, when we left them at the entrance of the Channel, fleering right into it."

The above extract is copied from the original letter written by an officer on board the Amazon, and acceived by yesterday's post: but, on enquiry where the degree of truth that belonged to such intelligence is most likely to be known, it appears that the captain of the Amazon privateer had fent a letter giving a fimilar account, but that there was great reason to believe the Captain was mistaken, and that the ships he fell in with were not the combined steets. Among other grounds for forming this opinion, are the following: - It is altogether unufual for the French and Spanish fleets to venture fo far out in the Bay at this particular feafon, nor does it agree with any of the various accounts of their real fituation on the Sth instant, that have been received from different quarters; but, what most serves to induce us to think that the captain was miliaken, is, that Government have advice of the failing of a large con roy from the island of St Martin in the West Indies, and their intelligence shews that this convoy must have been pretty nearly in the fituation and latitude described by the captain of the A. mazon, at the time he mentions. It is therefore highly probable that he mistook this convoy for the combined Yelerday, came on, in the Parliament House, the elec-on of a Member of Parliament for this county, when lenry Dundas of Melvil, Eq; his Majetty's Advocate for cotland, was unanimonally re-elected. Previous to this bunefs his Lordship informed the Gentlemen Freeholders, in short speech, of the line of conduct he had pursued in the t Parliament, and of his determined purpole, should he again returned, to give every support in his power to measures of Government.

After the election was over, his Lordship again addressed e meeting, thanking them for the great honour conferred on him, and expressing his happiness that his former conof in Parliament should have met with the approbation of constituents; the most convincing proof of which he had is day experienced, by an unanimous re-election. The setting then adjourned to the Affembly Hall to partake of elegant entertainment, to which they were invited by his ordfhip.

Arequira, Marc 6.1759. At six in the morning there was a great mob in this city, about a new duty that had been laid on a little time before. This plus cered the Customahous, and stattered the money and essentially about the freets. The Collector, Treasurer, and Comptroller, and all the substem officers, together with the Mayer, took ianctuary in the Con-puted Scittanuit. Soveral people were killed in the trong. A stille before this, a number of parsimal had been put up, but they never thought it would have come to any height; and therefore the King's people had not provided against it. After the mob had risen, an account of it was fent to the Superintendant of shis kingdom, who is now at Lina. In consequence thereof, a streeting was called by the Viceroy, of the different officers of that royal audience; and, by a resolution extraordinary, a commission was given to a judge to go down with 200 men, to endown to quell the mob; but, while they were getting ready the troops, the Superintendant or received another considers to superintendant ever almost the north provided another considers to superintendant ever when the than 10,000 men under anys in defend, the miches, as soon as they should learn that any force was to be carried against them. as from as they should learn that any force was to be carried against them; and, having joined themselves to the town of Moquiga, where there had also been a mon, shey determined to suspend the march of the troups til next day.

ANDREWS'S New Invented POWDER, for cleaning Woollen Cloth

ANDREWS's New Invented POWDER, for cleaning Woollen Cloth of every kind and all colours.

THIS Powder is the most cleanly, as well as the most effectual composition, ever yet discovered for cleaning Woollen Cloth; it infantly removes every kind of spot, even paint, although it may have been dried in for several weeks, without leaving the smallest trace behind. It is so easily wied, that clothes which are only failed require very little trouble to clean them, and it is brushed out as readily as the dust after a day's wear. It being used dry does not make the cloth appear rough; but on the contrary, if the cloths are carefully brushed with the grain, they will be as smooth as when new. It is particularly recommended to the gentlemen of the army and savy, as it makes white and buff coloured cloth, and Kerseymere appear as beautiful as new; and will clean fearlet, blue, &c. to admiration.—It is also recommended for the limings of carriages, &c.

Sold wholefule and retail "(only) by the parentee, J. Andrews performer. No. 47, Pall Mall, London; also, in retail, by WILLIAM RAEBURN Perrussen, Bridge-freet, Ediphurgh. Price 2 s. a box.
